VOCATION TO BROTHERHOOD

*Comboni
Brother*

- * A vocation
- * A life
- * A service

Saint Daniel Comboni, from whom the Comboni Missionaries take their name, had a life marked by a passion for Africa. He worked for the evangelisation and regeneration of Africa. He was born at Limone, Italy, on 15 March 1831 and died at Khartoum, Sudan, on 10 October 1881.

Introduction

A call to be a Brother is a vocation to be the living, human memory of Jesus.

The different vocations in the Church remind us that: "There are different kinds of spiritual gifts, but the same Spirit gives them. There are different ways of serving, but the same Lord is served" (1 Cor 12: 4-5). All vocations are gifts from God, which are to be put at the service of the whole humanity.

The vocation to Brotherhood is a specific gift to the Church. It reminds all of us of the common dignity and fundamental Brotherhood of Christians: "You are all Brothers" (Matt 23, 8).

Meaning of the vocation to Brotherhood

- It is a consecration to God for the service of his people.
- The vocation to Brotherhood is a call to follow the example of Christ and imitate him in the way he carried out his ministry (Christ as a teacher, healer, builder of peace, promoter of justice, more fraternity among his follower, etc ...)
- Vocation lived as a sign of fraternity to the world.
